

Class B: Adams Central finishes as runner-up; three golfers medal

He collected four pars and a birdie on his first nine holes but made just one par and one birdie on the back.
“My front nine, I was keeping it between the trees, hitting the ball very well. I had a few putts get away from me, a few squirly ones, but for the most part I was hitting fairway, hitting greens and doing the right things,” he said. “Get to the back nine and missed 10’s green, missed 11’s green, and missed 12’s green and couldn’t get up and down with any of them. I didn’t chip well and didn’t make many putts.”

Pohlson finished the back nine with a 43, giving him an 82 on the day to finish in 11th individually.

The AC senior said the move to shorten the meet to one day puts additional pressure on the golfers, knowing that they only get one chance at a state medal.

“There’s a lot more pressure on you, obviously, because it’s a one-day tournament and you have to leave it all out there,” he said. “Coming up to state this week we were hoping for a two-day tournament with nice weather, but you can’t control that. (Tuesday) was obviously very bad, weather-wise, and you get out here (Wednesday) and it’s less than ideal conditions with 20 mile an hour winds. But, overall, you can’t look down your nose at a second place medal at state.”

Hartman agreed that the one day tournament increases the importance of the first round of play because golfers don’t have another chance to adjust to similar situations in round two. But, the Patriots coach also agreed with the decision not to play Tuesday, saying it would have been difficult for golfers to even mark their ball placements on the green.

“It would have been nice to have a two-day tournament; it would have been nice to play (Wednesday) and (Thursday), but I know they don’t have a plan for that,” he said. “Overall, it was what it was, and that doesn’t take anything away from what North Platte did. They shot a good score in tough conditions.”

The Patriots rounded out their scoring with an 84 from Nicholas Bohlen — who was one stroke away from earning a medal — and an 86 from Thane Waite.

Bohlen is a senior and said he had struggled to find his shot early in the season, but he was happy he could contribute to the team’s success at the state meet.

“It’s not really for me, the individual part of medaling; it’s more about the team,” he said. “I came out here and I just wanted to put our team as close to the top as we could. I did the best I could — lost a couple strokes in there — but I did my part as best as I could.”

Bohlen said his chipping wasn’t great but his putting made up for most miscues in the short game. He tallied five pars and a birdie on the day.

Waite had success driving the ball off the tee box with his 3-wood on Wednesday, as he converted seven par attempts at the state meet.

A junior, Waite said a second-place finish at state wasn’t even on his radar.

“If you would have told us at the beginning of the year that we’d get runner up, I would have told you you’re crazy,” he said. “We all came together and played tremendously; it’s too bad we came up a little bit short, but it’s still pretty good.”

Pohlson reiterated the notion that the Patriots gained confidence as the season progressed, which also resulted in an increase in expectations.

A three time state qualifier, Pohlson ended his career on Wednesday with a second consecutive medal. Nolan and Bohlen also saw their careers come to an end, with Nolan capturing his first medal. Hartman said those three were great leaders for Nathan and Waite.

“The seniors were great. Nicholas Bohlen, going from where he was a year ago to where he was this year, and even John and Nolan from where they were a year ago to this year, was really exceptional,” he said. “To have a sophomore in Nathan do some things and to have Thane help take pressure off with some good scores down the stretch, it was a good group of kids to work with. I really enjoyed my time with them and wish them nothing but the best.”

Waite is going to miss Adams Central’s three seniors. He said the group truly bonded over the course of the season. But Waite believes the Patriots will be a force again next year.

“It’s a great group of guys; one through five, we all supported each other. We’re a family. We’re really close. It’s going to hurt seeing the three seniors leave. Nathan and I come back next year, and hopefully we can win state. I think we have some more guys that can come up and help us win.”

Class C: Doniphan-Trumbull places 13th as team; Hendricks tied for ninth

Seberger was satisfied with the team’s progress from where they were a year ago.

“This is the first boys team from Doniphan-Trumbull that’s made it to state 2003,” she said. “We’re not going to be too upset about it. They know they could’ve played better, but we’re here and that was our goal.”

Seberger said just the experience of playing in the state environment was meaningful to her young program. The Cardinals brought two freshmen to the state tournament to go along with three juniors.

“Just the experience of playing on a tougher course, having the crowd around and feeling that pressure, that in itself is worth everything.”

Hendricks likes to play up tempo, but Wednesday’s pace didn’t allow him to do that.

“You really can’t let that get to you, but it definitely affected me today,” Hendricks said. “That’s something I’m disappointed in myself about, but I’m a fast player and it kind of takes away my focus from the game when I have to wait that long (between shots).”

Seberger noted she saw some frustration out of her No. 1 golfer, but the larger issue was his short game.

“Griff couldn’t buy a putt today. He was striking the ball well. If he got in trouble, he’d get out of it,” Seberger said. “He played it smart, but his short game let him down and he left quite a few out there.” Hendricks agreed his putter was a downer.

“I was pleased with how I was getting from the tee to the green, but then on the green it was pretty bad,” he said. “I tried to change my stroke up a bit, but it seems like everything I tried didn’t go my way. It is what it is I guess.”

Playing in the No. 1 group didn’t faze Hendricks. He enjoyed being around such talented golfers, and he hung around with them most of the day.

with his second stroke. His putt was makeable, but it rimmed out and carried well past the hole. He ended up two-putting from there and paring the hole.

Hendricks also missed out on a birdie from around 8 feet on the par three 15th. His shot off the tee was the closest to the pin, but he failed to gain a stroke and parred there as well.

The Cardinals don’t lose any members of the team to graduation.

“They’re already talking about coming back,” Seberger said.

Carbaugh and Lundquist led the way in the group for most of the day. GICC’s Fox was in the mix down the stretch as well.

Carbaugh, of Cambridge, was 2-under par through his first six holes. He looked hard to beat until a collapse on the eighth where he found the pond and ended up using eight strokes to finish the hole.

“I was 2-under going into hole eight. I got a bad break on the drive and unfortunately, I hit it in the water. I had a bad shot on my drop and my coach just told me to keep my head in it...I knew it would pay off in the end,” Carbaugh said.

His setback was cured with birdies on the 10th and the 12th.

On the 12th, Carbaugh sliced his drive off the tee and spectators and officials searched for it in the straw grass off the fairway. When it was located, his only choice was to punch it into the fairway and burn a stroke. His next shot was arguably his most impressive of the day. He drilled a shot over the trees aimed right for the flag. It dropped on the green about 15 feet from the hole. He drained the birdie putt and pumped his fist.

Fox and Lundquist gave valiant efforts to catch Carbaugh, but couldn’t make up the ground. Fox’s effort of shooting a 76 did give the Crusaders their second straight team title, however.

Carbaugh won every single event he played in this season, including the Class C state tournament.

“I played in seven regular season events and districts and now state. I won every event I played in this year. I’m 9-0, I guess you could say,” Carbaugh said with a grin. “This one is definitely better than all of the others.”

Thayer Central’s Jackson Fuelner, a junior, finished tied for 25th with an 87. Fillmore Central sophomore Koby Head shot a 101.
